Meeting Fairies: My Remarkable Encounters With Nature Spirits

Synopsis

Fascinating meetings with fire and water spirits and interactions with the elf king; one person's remarkable encounters with the fairy realm. More than 40 years ago Robert Ogilvie Crombie, or Roc as he was affectionately known, found himself in Edinburgh Botanical Gardens, where, to his great surprise, he found himself looking at a faun. The remarkable, life-changing experience opened up the world of fairies to him, and was the beginning of many profound encounters with the nature spirits. Designed to look like an old fairytale book, this is the first compilation of Roc's precious encounters with the fairy realm. His warm and detailed accounts reveal a world many yearn to learn about.

Customer Reviews

I was completely charmed by this delightful little book. It is beautifully bound and printed, complete with several wonderful drawings. Would make a unique gift. The odyssey Mr. Crombie was fortunate enough to have with the nature spirits is detailed here openly and sincerely. That is fascinating enough in itself. But additionally, Crombie explains what these beings really are in terms even a hardnosed "rationalist" can understand and accept. If you don't "believe" in nature spirits, you probably will after reading this book. Crombie explains that the communication between him and them was of a type of telepathy, and that they actually exist as balls of beautiful multi-colored light - almost like a rainbow but more beautiful..... They take on the forms with which we are familiar...i.e. elves, gnomes, fairies etc. in order to appear to us - assuming the etheric "thought forms" in which humans over thousands of years - going back to Greek myth - have imaged them. This is more of a matter of convenience for us and is not how they are in their natural resting state. Today more than ever we need Crombie's message from the Nature Kingdom to us: we must recognize their existence and enter into an equal and cooperative relationship with them in order to cleanse and strengthen the Earth. This would be the greatest environmental action we could take. It has been due to the withdrawal of the nature spirits to a large degree in reaction to man's destructive and exploitive ways, that the foods which are grown today are comparatively low in nutrients and Life force -the vitality - the life force - in food, comes from the nature spirits.
